Annual Report

2024/25

A YEAR OF RESILIENCE AND RENEWAL.

The Victorian Pride Centre respectfully acknowledges the Yalukut Weelam Clan of the Boon Wurrung peoples. We extend this acknowledgment to all Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples as the traditional custodians of the lands where we live, learn and work. We uphold their continuing relationship to this land on which the Victorian Pride Centre exists today.

We pay our respects to their Elders, both past and present.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples are advised that this report may include images, and names of deceased individuals.

Who We Are

The Victorian Pride Centre is the first purpose-built centre for Australia's LGBTIQ+ communities. We operate as a Not-For-Profit organisation, with no recurrent Government funding, and we stand as a beacon of inclusion, connection and progress, paving new directions for LGBTIQ+ communities while honouring and celebrating their brave, and at times difficult, past.

More than just a building, the Pride Centre is home to a diverse range of vital organisations that provide life-changing services- from mental health support and legal advocacy to youth outreach and peer connection. These resident organisations are at the heart of our mission to uplift and empower community.

Throughout the year, the Centre also hosts a vibrant calendar of events, including Pride Month celebrations, exhibitions, performances, workshops and forums that bring people together, spark conversation and celebrate the richness of LGBTIQ+ life.

Together, we are building a future where every person in our community feels seen, supported and celebrated.

Our Vision

A world where every LGBTIQ+ person has a place where we are welcomed, valued, respected and celebrated.

Our Purpose

Chair's Message

Craig

He/Him

I am proud to reflect on a year of resilience, renewal, and deepened connection at the Victorian Pride Centre. The 2024–2025 financial year has unfolded in a global context where hard-won rights are being challenged, and many corporations are stepping back from their commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion. In this climate, the Pride Centre has remained unwavering— a beacon of belonging, advocacy, and pride.

This year, we welcomed our new CEO, Paul Horwell, whose leadership marks an exciting new chapter for the Centre. His vision and energy are already helping us build on the strong foundations laid by our inaugural CEO, Justine Dalla Riva, whose legacy continues to shape our mission and values. I would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge the profound impact Justine has had during her time as CEO and thank her for her invaluable contributions.

The Pride Centre has continued to thrive as a hub for community, creativity, and care. From expanded cultural programming throughout Midsumma Festival, Pride Month and Pride Gallery exhibitions, to capacity-building initiatives and inclusive events, our space has brought people together in powerful ways.

Our digital engagement has continued to grow, amplifying diverse voices and extending our reach. This visibility is a testament to the strength of our collective efforts and speaks to how loud and proud our community is.

In the ongoing absence of Government funding, the Pride Centre relies heavily on the generosity of its founders and donors, along with its corporate sponsors, to help fund the events and activities at the Centre. A sincere thank you for your continued support and commitment to the Pride Centre. However, this year we have experienced challenges with traditional sources of revenue significantly declining as cost of living pressures mount; a trend being experienced across the not-for-profit sector. With Financial Sustainability as one of the four strategic pillars, it is a focus area we are watching closely.

I extend my heartfelt thanks to our staff, volunteers, resident organisations, supporters, and partners. Your dedication sustains the vibrancy and impact of the Pride Centre.

Thank you for your unwavering support of the Victorian Pride Centre. Together, we will ensure it remains a place of pride, inclusion, and community now and into the future.

CEO's Message

As I begin my first year as CEO of the Victorian Pride Centre, I embrace this role with deep respect for the legacy of those who built this extraordinary space and with an understanding of the challenges ahead. Unfortunately, this year has been a financially challenging year for the Victorian Pride Centre. We have maintained security cover to deal with the rise in incidents at the Centre, and we have seen challenging results with new corporate sponsorships. Despite this, we have welcomed more people through the doors, both community members and allies, hosted community centered events, and maintained strong relationships with our vital resident organisations.

Among our proudest milestones this year were the inaugural Queer Deaf Festival, Queer Multicultural Carnival and the Nasty “ballroom” Ball, events that expanded our outreach and celebrated the intersectional identities within our LGBTIQ+ communities. These celebrations brought new faces into the Centre and reaffirmed our commitment to intersectional inclusion and representation.

We also celebrated the graduation of our TiPS program participants, marking a new chapter for emerging leaders in our community, and the launch of our Speakers Bureau. The growth and achievements of these initiatives reflect the power of both mentorship and storytelling, and the importance of investing in future changemakers.

I am excited by the momentum we’ve built and the opportunities ahead. Our planning efforts are focused on financial sustainability, strengthening our partnerships; and ensuring that every LGBTIQ+ person, especially young people, and our trans community, know they have a safe place here at the Victorian Pride Centre.

To our Board, volunteers, team members, donors, sponsors, resident organisations and to our colourful community, I thank you. Your support fuels our progress and inspires our vision. Together, we are shaping the next chapter of the Victorian Pride Centre with pride and with purpose.

FINANCIAL OVERVIEW

Lachlan Pilley He/Him

Treasurer - Victorian Pride Centre

The 2024–2025 financial year has been marked by careful management of resources at the Victorian Pride Centre, allowing us to advance our mission and impact while ensuring financial sustainability. The Pride Centre does not receive recurrent operational funding from the State or Federal Governments.

The Pride Centre continues to be fully tenanted and primarily generates income from our resident organisations, venue hiring and associated events, corporate sponsorships, and donations. Due to the challenging economic and fundraising landscape, traditional sources of funding for the Pride Centre have reduced year on year. The unwavering support from our community has been vital to the continued success and impact of the Pride Centre's vision and objectives.

We invested in a larger team structure to fully activate the Pride Centre and support our resident organisations. Given the physical environment the Pride Centre operates in and the rise in incidents, the security costs have continued to increase year on year to ensure the safety of our community.

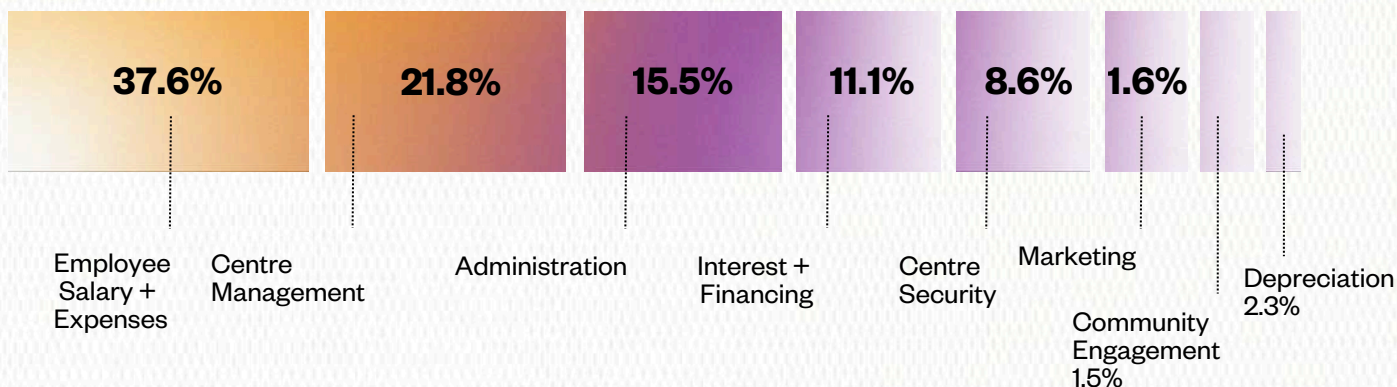

As we look ahead, we remain committed to closely managing our financial position and implementing strategies to achieve a debt-free future. This focus is essential for enabling us to financially thrive and expand the reach of the Pride Centre's vision and purpose.

Thank you to Paul, the broader staff team and the volunteers for their leadership and commitment to the Pride Centre.

CONNECT

The Victorian Pride Centre plays a unique and vital role in connecting diverse and intersectional LGBTIQ+ communities across Victoria. As a physical and symbolic home for pride, the Centre is committed to fostering meaningful relationships that transcend identity, geography, and lived experience.

Throughout FY24–25, the Victorian Pride Centre demonstrated its commitment to strengthening relationships across LGBTIQ+ communities and allies through a series of impactful initiatives and events.

The inaugural Queer Deaf Festival created a dedicated space for Deaf LGBTIQ+ individuals to connect, celebrate, and be visible, marking a significant milestone in intersectional inclusion and accessibility. Similarly, the Pride Centre piloted its very first Queer Multicultural Carnival during Pride Month which brought together culturally diverse LGBTIQ+ communities in a vibrant celebration of identity, storytelling, and shared pride.

During Pride Month, the Centre also hosted a rich and varied program of events, including queer line dancing, drag cabaret, film screenings, and comedy nights. These events welcomed both emerging and established artists and encouraged broad community participation, reinforcing the Centre's role as a cultural and social hub.

The graduation of our Telling it with Pride Speakers (TiPS) program participants further highlighted the Centre's investment in leadership development, equipping a new generation of changemakers with the tools to lead and advocate within their communities. Additionally, graduates were listed in our LGBTIQ+ Speakers Bureau, a network of speakers that amplifies lived experience storytelling and advocacy, strengthening visibility and building bridges with allies and institutions.

The Memory Lane Café, delivered in partnership with Dementia Australia, provided a supportive space for LGBTIQ+ individuals and their families affected by dementia, fostering intergenerational connection and care.

THRIVE

The Victorian Pride Centre is committed to building a strong foundation for long-term impact by investing in organisational sustainability and resilience.

In FY24–25, the Victorian Pride Centre responded proactively to a challenging economic climate by implementing a strategic organisational restructure. This new operating model, which had been in development since the previous financial year, was designed to strengthen our internal capacity, streamline operations, and better align our resources with the Centre’s long-term strategic goals.

At the heart of this restructure was a commitment to enhancing the experience of all who engage with the Pride Centre from our resident organisations and community partners to the thousands of visitors who walk through our doors each year. By investing in a more agile and responsive team structure, we are better positioned to deliver high-impact programs, support our tenants, and activate our spaces in ways that reflect the vibrancy and diversity of our communities.

We have grown to a dedicated team of 9 permanent staff members, each bringing unique expertise and passion to their roles, to cover operating the Centre over peak programs, evenings and weekends. This team enables us to deliver more consistent support, deepen community engagement, and drive forward our mission with renewed energy and focus.

CHAMPION

Throughout FY24–25, the Victorian Pride Centre has remained steadfast in its role as a champion for LGBTIQ+ inclusion, visibility, and equity. We have actively worked to amplify underrepresented voices, and create spaces where all members of our community feel seen, heard, and valued.

This year, our digital presence saw substantial growth, amplifying our community's voices. These results not only reflect our digital footprint but also enhance our ability to amplify the voices of LGBTIQ+ communities and strengthen our collective message.

In FY24–25, the Victorian Pride Centre communications function experienced significant digital growth, reflecting the community's increasing engagement with our online platforms. Our total reach across social media rose by an impressive 71%, driven by strong performance on Instagram (+22%) and LinkedIn (+11%), alongside steady numbers on Facebook. While Rainbow Road email subscribers saw a slight decline (-13%), our website traffic surged, with 113,000 users and increases of 11% across key metrics.

These figures highlight the growing impact of our digital presence and the importance of online connection in amplifying our mission and reach.

GROW

FY24–25 was a year of reflection and renewal for the Victorian Pride Centre. In the face of economic pressures and shifting community needs, we undertook a strategic internal restructure to strengthen our operational resilience and ensure long-term sustainability. These changes allowed us to streamline processes, clarify roles, and better align our resources with our mission.

In FY24–25, the Victorian Pride Centre deepened its commitment to connecting services for LGBTIQ+ communities by fostering inclusive partnerships, expanding access to health and wellbeing initiatives, and providing a stable home for vital service organisations.

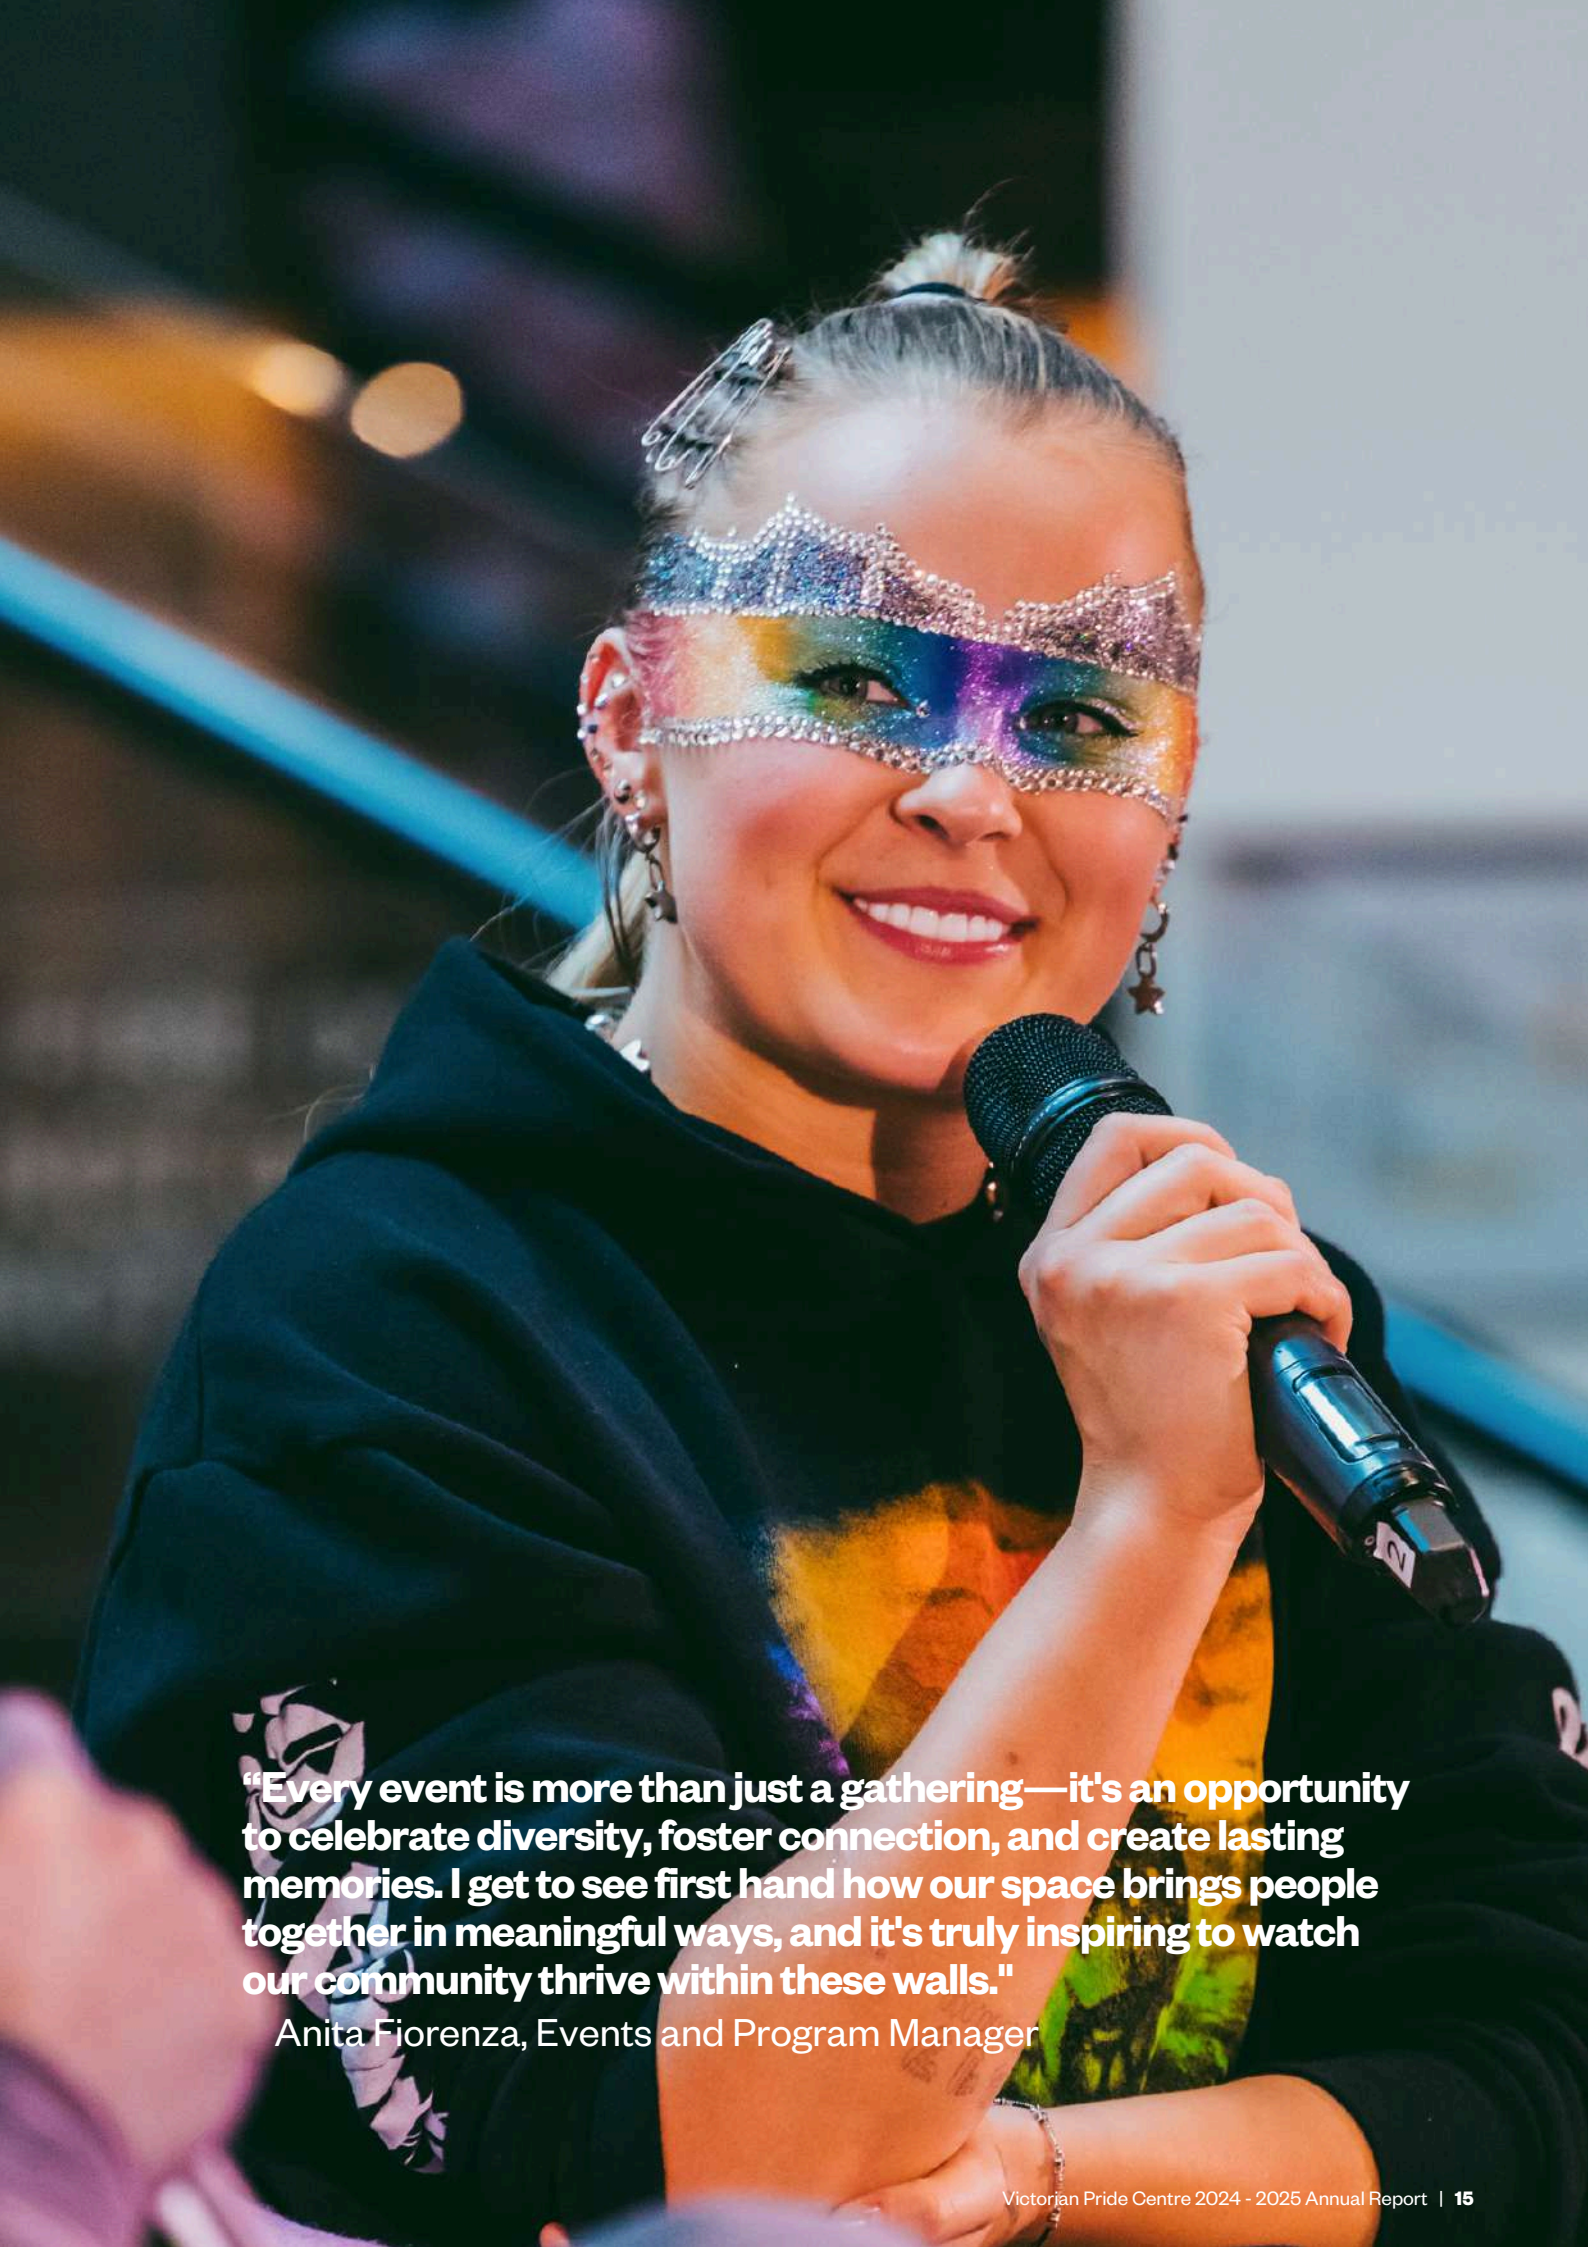

We also proudly launched a new partnership with Genea Fertility, aimed at supporting LGBTIQ+ family-building journeys. This collaboration reflects our shared commitment to inclusivity in healthcare, ensuring that rainbow families can access fertility services without fear of discrimination or misunderstanding.

Our partnership with Endeavour Group has helped amplify visibility and support for LGBTIQ+ communities through shared values of diversity and inclusion, while also contributing to the sustainability of our programs and spaces. Together the aim is to deliver events such as a Wear It Purple Day panel which will strengthen and provide outreach for our community.

The Pride Centre continued to serve as a stable and collaborative home for 15 resident and community organisations, including Thorne Harbour Health, Monash Health, Switchboard, Better Health Network, JOY Media, and Minus18. This co-location model enables service providers to work side-by-side, share resources, and offer streamlined support to community members seeking health, legal, social, and advocacy.

Further enhancing service access, we celebrated the launch of Justice of the Peace (JP) Signing Services at the Centre in October 2025, offering free document witnessing and certification in a welcoming, judgment-free space. This initiative has become a trusted resource for community members needing essential legal services.

"Every event is more than just a gathering—it's an opportunity to celebrate diversity, foster connection, and create lasting memories. I get to see first hand how our space brings people together in meaningful ways, and it's truly inspiring to watch our community thrive within these walls."

Anita Fiorenza, Events and Program Manager
